City manager to be on ballot

PAHOKEE - Pahokee voters may have the opportunity to change their form of government when they go to the polls May 3, but if Mayor Duncan Padgett has his way, the city government structure will stay just the way it is.

City council members are trying to include a binding referendum on the ballot which would change the government from a strong mayor-city council form of government to a strong city manager form of government.

Under the proposal, the city clerk and city marshal would be hired employees, not elected as they are under the current system in Pahokee.

The mayor would be selected from the five council members and a city manager would be hired to take care of the administrative affairs of the city.

The city council may not be able to get the binding referendum on the May 3 ballot, said City Clerk Betty McCoy. It may then schedule a special election for a later date.

"They're doing everything they can possible to get it on this May 3 ballot," said McCoy.

The city manager question was put to the voters in a non-binding referendum in October 1981. That proposal was overwhelmingly defeated by the few voters who went to the polls. Padgett, Pahokee's mayor for 22 of the last 23 years, has already voiced his opposition to the plan.

"They're trying to legislate me out," he said. "The new form would make it possible for three councilmen, a majority of the five member city council, to run the city, he said.

"There's a lot of people unhappy with the city of Pahokee," Padgett said. "I don't know of too

Three more file for city races

PAHOKEE - Three more candidates have qualified for spots on the Pahokee City Council ballot.

The election is scheduled for Tuesday May 3. Qualifying ends Friday, April 3 at 5 p.m.

Two of the new candidates are running for the seat being vacated by George Tillis.

Ramon Horta, Jr. and Ralph Ainsworth have joined George Walter Rashley, Jr. and Wynonia Cummings in the group two race.

This is Horta's second attempt for a council seat. He ran for a council seat last year and was defeated in a run-off with Ronnie Graydon.

"I'd like to see some progress developed in Pahokee," said Horta. "I can't make any promises because promises are hard to keep. It takes votes on the council."

He said he would support "anything good for the city."

Ainsworth, 57, is making his political debut in the group two race.

"I'm hoping to be elected to serve the people of Pahokee," said Ainsworth, who added he's been in Pahokee since 1937.

Tillis has indicated that he's decided not to seek reelection.

Tuesday, March 29, Glen Carrick, who was also defeated in the 1982 municipal elections, became the only candidate so far to qualify to run against Councilman William E. McKinstry.

"I'm not a miracle worker," said Carrick, 55.

"I'd just like to see a little more cooperation of everybody on the council. That's about the size of it. I'm no miracle worker or I'd be in Washington."

Prospective candidates have until 5 p.m. Friday, April 1 to qualify for a spot on the Pahokee ballot.

Cowart, Campbell to take over Country Club Friday

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE - This week's winner of the Belle Glade Country Club lease is the team of Billy Cowart and Richard Campbell.

The Belle Glade City Commission decided late last week to lease the city owned facility to Cowart and Campbell after deciding against leasing the facility to Terry Moss.

The commission had negotiated a lease with Moss, but several days later, some of the commissioners had regrets and expressed concern over Moss's ability to finance the club if it lost money for several months.

The commissioners decided not to enter into a lease with Moss, who operates Terry's in South Bay, and to negotiate with Cowart and Campbell.

Under the new agreement, the corporation will make a $5,000 deposit, which the city will put into money market funds to earn interest.

The six year lease has an original term of two years. At the end of the two years, Cowart and Campbell may renew the lease at a renegotiated base rate not to be increased more than the consumer price index.

The lease may be renewed for another two years by the firm at the end of the fourth year, upon 60 days notice.

Cowart and Campbell will pay the city a base rate of $500 per month plus two percent of anything over $30,000 monthly gross.

They are scheduled to take over the facility Friday, April

1. Cowart, a Belle Glade resident, is involved in several local businesses, including Cowart Sod, Sugarland Tractor and Circle O Beef.

Campbell had worked with the Banana Boat chain and currently owns Scruples, a bar and restaurant in North Palm Beach.

Commissioner Charles Goodlett suggested the city include permitting the base rent to be negotiated at the end of the initial two years of the lease.

"Nobody knows what's gonna happen two years from now," said Goodlett.

"It's almost impossible to sit here and pick out a base rent two years down the road, from both our points of view, from their (Cowart and Campbell) point of view and from our point of view," agreed Mayor Thomas L. Altman.

The city and the operators may negotiate a new base rent not to exceed $500 per month plus the change in the consumer price index, under the terms of the lease.

Campbell told the commissioners when he first submitted his proposal two weeks ago that he intended to put a luncheon buffet in the club so people can eat and still make it back to their jobs in an hour.

He said the buffet at Scruples has been successful, and that, in an effort to attract families to the club, he might have an evening buffet occasionally.

"I do it as a service to the people who come into my restaurant," said Campbell.

He said the club has apparently been mismanaged and attract customers.

"There doesn't seem to be a lot of people out there," said Campbell. "I think it can be worked out where we can both do alright and you can still be providing the community a service. Everyone's entitled to make some type of profit, even the city. I'm not saying everything I do is right, but I have been so far, and I'm not knocking it."

"I know whatever it'll do, I'll get the maximum out of it. It's gonna take us a year to build it up, and anyone who tells you differently is crazy."

"The new operators will try to keep the club opened while they do their renovations and cleaning."

"I'm not gonna lock the doors," said Cowart.

"There may be a point where we have to close for a couple days," said Campbell. "But we don't really want to. If we close down, it's not gonna be for more than a couple days."

The city commissioners voted to execute the lease Monday night, March 28.

It also agreed to reimburse Terry Moss $942 for expenses he incurred in an effort to transfer operation of the club to his corporation, TEMO, Inc.

The city commission decided not to enter into the agreement with Moss after several of the commissioners expressed concern for Moss's ability to finance the club through the

CHARLES SCHIELE, sitting second from left, is leaving the Glades Sugar House where he served as general manager since 1978. Oscar Toledo, standing, spoke at a barbecue last week in honor for Schiele. Also attending were, to Schiele's left, Enrique R. Arias, executive vice president of the Sugar Cane Growers Co-operative and George Wedgworth, president.

Schiele leaving Sugar House Friday

BELLE GLADE - Mill employees of the Glades Sugar House last week said goodbye to General Manager Charles Schiele with a barbecue at the Cuban-Liceo Club Thursday, March 24.

Schiele has been with the Sugar Cane Growers Co-operative since 1973. He leaving after five years as general manager of the organization to pursue other interests.

Oscar Toledo, one of the barbecue's organizers, spoke about Schiele to the crowd of about 200.

"We hope destiny will give us the opportunity to see him again soon," said Toledo. He said Schiele earned the respect of the mill workers because, although he didn't always take the workers' side in labor disputes, he always listened to their side and tried to find a solution acceptable to both sides.

"He could defend the workers of the mill and the mill itself," said Toledo.

He said that Schiele's reaction in one labor dispute involving unemployment compensation was "very similar to those a Latin have in such a case."

"This relationship we call 'the great family of the Glades' must be maintained by the mill and all who work in the mill," said

Winds blew some muck around last weekend in the outlying rural areas of the Glades. The muck has not had a chance to dry out yet and cause any real muck storms this year.

Water officials view next two months as critical

By JEFF BROWN

South Florida Water Management District officials expect the next two months to be critical in their efforts to lower Lake Okeechobee in preparation for hurricane season.

The lake is above schedule and must be lowered to 15.5 feet above mean sea level by June 1, according to Dick Slyfield, chief of operations with the district.

The lake level, dropping about an inch a day, was 17.71 feet Tuesday, March 29.

"Generally speaking, things are improving as far as Lake Okeechobee is concerned. The next

Lewis hears local ag views

United States Representative Tom Lewis traveled to the Glades Friday, March 25 to talk with South Florida agriculture leaders and learn where they stand on a variety of issues affecting them.

Lewis and the members of the Agriculture Task Force who attended the meeting at Belle Glade City Hall expressed displeasure with a Reagan Administration proposal to close seven weather stations and eliminate the fruit frost warning system. Bill Price, a banker from the Immokalee area, said he opposes any proposal to close the stations or make farmers pay for the service.

"Farmers in Immokalee and Collier County are very concerned with the loss of frost warning and weather information stations," said Price. "If we ever get in this country where we'd force the farmer out of business and we had to depend on many cities that don't have some problems. I don't see that much wrong with it.

"It's the everyday citizen that's here, has their business here, makes their living here, that makes it (the city)," Padgett continued.

"Chicago elects its mayor. New York elects its mayor. West Palm Beach elects its chief of police. What's wrong with Pahokee electing theirs?"

Padgett said he doesn't think the individuals pushing for the city manager form of government really have the public's best interest in mind.

He said the city isn't going to expand because the people don't really want it to grow.

"Look how many people are fuming cause they wanna build a new high school," he said. "They don't wanna give up 35 acres of land for it."

He added that he knows who's behind the attempt to change the city form of government and he intends to fight them.

"I'm not at liberty to say. I have a good idea (who's behind the movement)," he said. "But they know."

He said he intends to fight the city manager concept because it will take away some of the voters' control over the operation of the city.

"When I feel like I don't have the guts to fight for the people, then I'll surrender. I've been called senile and accused of sleeping through the meetings, but I haven't missed anything yet," Padgett said.

other countries, if you thought the oil crisis was a mess, well, you haven't seen such a mess."

John Boy, president of United States Sugar, said USSS uses the information stations and also subscribes to an independent service. He said the government service is much more accurate than the independent service and he was opposed to the closing of the stations.

Lewis has spoken on the floor of the House of Representatives against the closing of the stations and has spoken with Reagan administration officials about the proposal.

"Growers cannot take chances," Lewis was quoted by the Congressional Record as saying March 2. "The availability of around-the-clock forecasting means millions of dollars in savings both to the industry and related services — and to the consumer."

"I shudder to think of the disastrous result an unanticipated freeze would have on an enormously vital and productive sector of my district and the state of Florida's economy."

He also expressed his opposition to the closings in a letter to Kenneth M. Duerstien, an assistant to Reagan for legislative affairs.

"I believe this proposal is an attempt to save money in the wrong area," the letter stated. "The cost of maintaining these stations and operating a fruit frost warning program is minimal compared with the value of the critical information that is provided to farmers and growers in states like Florida."

Lewis said he was opposed to plans to have the agriculture growers subscribe to a pay service.

"I am against asking the agricultural community to pay for a structural change in the delivery of vital information when no one knows if these services can and will be adequately duplicated. In addition, we have no assurance that the small family farmer can afford a fee and rate schedule independently set by a for-profit weather service... I feel that any serious disruption of agricultural weather services has the potential to cripple agricultural production, which is so central to our national welfare."

Other topics the growers discussed with Lewis included the proposed Simpson-Mazzoli Bill called the "Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1983," the Caribbean Basin Initiative and the United States Department of Agriculture brucellosis program.

The Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1983 is designed to control the hiring of illegal immigrants.

Several growers expressed concern over clauses requiring employers to hire individuals with two identifications.

"It just scares me to death," said Price, who said only a social security card should be required by employers.

"That's one of the gray areas of the bill we've been contacted on, that you're bringing out," said Lewis. "The other one is amnesty, Frank Teets from South Bay Growers said he thinks the only solution would be issue a national picture identification card."

"I'm sure there would be some objection to a national photo ID card," said Lewis.

The Caribbean Basin Initiative would provide emergency economic assistance in amounts of up to $350 million to nations in the Caribbean basin and Central America.

couple months could be rather critical," said Slyfield. "We are coming down."

Maximum discharges are still being made through the St. Lucie estuary and the Caloosahatchee River, but water is still draining into the lake from the Kissimmee River basin. The lakes in the Kissimmee basin are on schedule, and discharges into Lake Okechobee must be continued to prevent them from rising the scheduled levels, according to Slyfield.

If rain continues to fall at the rate it has fallen throughout the winter, it could be difficult to lower the lake to the regulated 15.6 feet above mean sea level by June 1.

Slyfield said district officials are hoping the weather turns drier over the next few weeks.

The district is still discharging about 7,000 cubic feet per second through the St. Lucie estuary and 9,000 cubic feet per second through the Caloosahatchee.

That translates to 32,000 acre feet per day, said Slyfield. An acre foot is the amount water in a one acre field a foot under water, or about 333,000 gallons.

Thirty-two thousand acre feet represents about 10 billion gallons of water discharged from the lake each day.

William Joiner, manager of the Pahokee Marina, said he still has problems when winds come out of the northwest and force the water over the pier.

"It's (the water level) going down," he said. "Not very fast, but it's going down. When you're flooded out, you can't do any business."

High water caused by winds prevent fishermen from walking out on the pier to fish. Joiner charges people for space on the pier to fish.

The high water recently washed a soda machine out of its spot and broke it, said Joiner.

An ice machine at the pier also gets washed out, but it can be returned to its position and used after the water recedes, said Joiner.

summer months, traditionally as business months at the club.

Commissioner George Goforth said he couldn't vote to lease the club to Moss because he thought it was a disservice to the community and to Moss, who could lose his current business if things at the club went badly.

"I feel like we picked the weakest one as far as finances go," said Goforth of Moss.

The weakest one is fine as long as the weakest one is strong enough to make a go of it," said Altman, adding "This wasn't a challenge of the balance sheet."

Altman said individuals with "a lot more" experience in the restaurant business have failed to make the club a success.

"I think at very best, he might be able to scrape by and keep the thing operating," said Altman. "But it would be on a shoestring, and we've seen what happens when it's operated on a shoestring."

We've just been through a year of that and I honestly don't think it's gonna work."

"I just don't believe he (Moss) can carry it financially," agreed Goforth.

Commissioners Claude Tindall and Charles Goodlett agreed to go along with the majority and not enter into an agreement with Moss.

"I do feel like we should have done this the other night when we had the meeting with him," said Tindall.

Toledo. "We have, together, created the great business that is Glades Sugar House today."

Schiele said there are "four or five or six good reasons" for the success of the cooperative.

The membership is "very progressive" and provides capital to operate the mill and allow it to grow and progress.

"We have a very involved and very competent board of directors led, by Mr. (George) Wedgworth, who have been providing the real leadership for 21 years," Schiele continued.

He said the management staff is capable.

"Most importantly, we got the people that do the work," he added. "If you don't have the people that do the work, you're not successful. We've been fortunate to have a very skilled, and I think a very motivated group of people."

Schiele listed communication and teamwork as reasons for the mill's success, also.

"We don't always agree, but we always settle our differences like gentlemen," said Schiele.

The dinner was planned by a committee of five sugar house employees: Toledo, Rene Rodriguez, Ramon Merfil, Gustavo Ruiz and Armando Soler.

Schiele started as manager of the mill in December 1978. He started with the cooperative in April 1973 as personnel manager.

He will be leaving April 1.

Bill Miller is expected to come back on board as general manager of the cooperative in June. He had left the cooperative in 1978 after almost 20 years with the company. He was involved in founding and designing the cooperative and the mill.

"AND WHAT NOT"

Shaping up

I believe in exercising just as much as the next person. So I never let myself get next to any person I think exercises too much.

For those who believe they can jig, jog, jiggle and jerk their way to health and happiness all the way to 95, I say, have at it. I'll try to keep out of the way while you whizz your way around my rocking chair.

This, of course, is no attitude for a columnist to hold who is otherwise known to face issues head on and in this case, with knees bent, left arm over the head, and right arm flat on the floor, without crossing the eyes or ankles. A much better attitude, I decided, was to stretch out in my armchair, grasp an exercise book firmly in both hands, place it six inches from my eyes, and develop the muscles in my eyelids, which tended to droop from the first page.

Instead, within minutes, I found I was on my way to developing my own workout program. I moved the end table 12 inches away from the chair and practiced reaching for my chocolate milkshake, first with the left hand and then with the right without letting my bedroom slippers touch the floor. This is, just great. I discovered, for developing the axilla, better known as the armpit.

From there it was a hop, skip, and a shuffle toward expanding on my own theory, "Bending, Folding and Other Forms of Self-Mutilation Without Leaving Home."

The operational phrase there is "without leaving home." Leaving home is probably the most discouraging phase in any exercise program, when you think about it. For instance, leotards are de rigueur for messing about in exercise classes. Now either you look great in a leotard (in which case you don't need exercise) or you've reached the stage where you have to buy leotards two at a time — one for the front and one for the back — and in public is the last place you want to wear them.

Or take jogging. If you jog by daylight, there's a whole outfit required, including atrocious colored shoes. But if you jog at night in your old clothes, it can be hazardous to your well-being because the police do not like to see people running at night in old sneakers who look like they have something stuffed up their jerseys. You have to keep assuming them that the bulge under your T-shirt is you.

My program for both jogging and jumping in place can be done in front of the kitchen sink. Place a dishpan on the floor and half fill it with sand. Add one-half to one cup of fire ants. Now you can alternate jumping and jogging up and down in place while you peel the potatoes or whatever. Too go faster or higher, simply add more ants.

Making beds can tighten up just about every muscle you own and some you'll wish you didn't, if you follow my method. First, strip the bed of the mattress. Now, make it tight again while lying on it. After three beds you'll be so toned-up you could collapse. And where better to collapse than right on the bed you happen to be lying on?

I'm not ready to divulge all of my program here because I may publish it in a book. I don't want to don't rush out and spend $17.95 for someone else's workbook (which only develops you on the left, friends tell me). Convert that cash into pennies, scatter them around the floor, and practice picking them up with your teeth. Don't bend those knees!

Weather hearing set

U.S. Rep. Tom Lewis (R-North Palm Beach) will host a hearing of the Natural Resources, Agriculture Research and Environment Subcommittee of the U.S. House Science and Technology Committee on Thursday, March 31, from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. in the Palm Beach County Community chambers in the County Courthouse.

The purpose of the hearing is to examine funding and service delivery options for agriculture weather services.

The Administration has proposed closing seven agriculture weather stations around the country and eliminating the fruit frost warning system, all of which are being studied by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA).

As host of the hearing, I am anxious to

Welcome BMX

There are a group of folks in Clewiston who have done a tremendous job in bringing the Pan American International/War of the Stars VI Bicycle Motocross Races to the Glades.

The racing double header will be held at Clewiston's Tom Jones Memorial BMX Track Saturday, April 2, starting at 9 a.m.

Featured are some of the world's best riders. BMX racing is a true sport, requiring conditioning, coordination, endurance, sprinting ability and courage.

They race on a hard-packed dirt course full of turns and twists. When eight riders head full tilt into a hairpin turn chances are someone is going down.

Letters

Editor:

Last Saturday night the Montevoni Orchestra played at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center (as a part of the winter series of programs). I could not help but feel embarrassed when I saw the many empty seats.

This was a program that everyone would have enjoyed and was worth the price of the whole series of programs.

Much work has gone into the planning to enable us to offer these fine programs for the benefit of the whole Glades area. It is filling a great cultural need, both for adults and children, and is greatly appreciated by the ones who do take advantage of this opportunity.

The price of the whole series is only slightly more than one has to pay for one good program in West Palm Beach.

Glades people, let's get in back of this Cultural Arts program and help make our communities a better place to live!

I would like to ask you editors to help by giving more publicity to these programs. We do need it and I know you are wanting to be helpful. We would appreciate it very much.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Ruth Wedgworth

Editor:

In answer to the letter of Richard Gallipau and Jack Corner,

I think they are being afraid for nothing. Have they looked into what a trailer park costs to put in today?

No low income people could afford to live in one. First, I believe the road into Turkey Creek is more than 1,000 feet from the back of the park and the road has trees on the right hand side, so you wouldn't see the park.

Also, there is a park already next door. As for no frontage on the river, Mr. Walker owns land on the canal which opens into the river.

A park would pay taxes now, while houses pay after $25,000 value and may not be there for years. If you are a resident of Glades you can speak May 9th.

Being fair, when Mr. Storter wanted his [land] rezoned, they did it; also, when Ken Bracken wanted his small lots rezoned, they did it. Why not Walker's?

Mr. Walker is a year round resident, not someone who comes here for a few months.

To The Editor,

The recurring connotation between Harlem residents and the HCSD must be ended, but Sheriff Durkis has the wrong solution.

Sheriff Durkis has told the residents of Harlem that the media that his department is doing more in Harlem than has ever been done before. Harlem residents have avoided this statement and blamed the HCSD, particularly Sheriff Durkis, for not establishing a liaison between the community, County Commission and the HCSD.

The fallacy in Sheriff Durkis's statement "That there is an implied partnership," a partnership that does not exist. The residents of Harlem are living in Hendry County because they chose to do so as individuals. Sheriff Durkis is the peace keeper due to the invitation of the residents of Hendry County. Although the peace keeper does not receive an invitation from the Harlem community his responsibility is to total County, including HARLEM.

Does Sheriff Durkis want to earn the nickname Sheriff Roadblock? Does he really want to create the impression that everybody's cut of step but him. These questions arise because, at a time when people of both race are exhibiting unusual concern and cooperation in addressing some of the problems within and encountered by the HCSD. The chief peacekeeper is becoming the chief barrier to action.

The latest incident, just last week, March 22, 1983, Durkis walked out of a Commissioner's meeting wherein residents of Hendry County had convened in hopes that a liaison would be established with the Sheriff, Commissioners and themselves.

Rather than discuss issues with the citizenry of a Commissioner's meeting, he chose to give his response to the media. The media did not elect Durkis to be the peacekeeper for Hendry County. It is his responsibility to meet the public when called and anywhere in Hendry County.

Since Durkis appears to be proud of his performance, perhaps we need to examine those deputies who are doing a better job than those in Harlem and imply that the present deputies are doing a better job than those in Harlem. Well, what we see is an increase in crime in Harlem and based on the percent arrest rate, a reduction in arrest; small, but noticeable. This indicates that as a result of the dismissal of the black deputies, crime is increasing rapidly and arrests are decreasing. We also wonder how many of those 82 arrests were tried and convicted. We are not aware of the Sheriff use of arrested individuals for informants. We are also aware that most of the Sheriff informants are reported offenders.

Sheriff Durkis seems to be proud of the number of Blacks he has employed. We are proud of that, but we realize that the two fired Black Deputies held rank and at present there is only one ranking Black deputy. Of the five dispatchers, how many did Sheriff Durkis hire?

He seems to be proud of the nine(9) people he has terminated and the five (5) that was not responded when he was sworn in on November, 1980. Well, we feel fourteen (14) is a large number when the HCSD only consists of the same number we have today.

We lost a lot of experience in years of law enforcement. We are sure the Commissioners would have granted the jailers.

Well, since Sheriff Durkis has cost the taxpayers of Hendry County more than they deserve. I suggest he use some of the money he has gotten from the sell of confiscated cars, airplanes or whatever and defray the cost of the HCSD. I wonder what its being used for now.

We deserve better law enforcement in Harlem, and based on Sheriff Durkis's own statements, I feel that he needs to do a better job than he is doing.

The less you do, the more these little amateurs will do until someone shows them who is smartest.

The Hendry County Citizens Association of Harlem, and Elizabeth Bobo, current president, said this year's festival has been declared a homecoming event.

May 7 has been selected as the final day of the festival and Serious injuries are almost unheard of, but scrapped elbows and skinned knees are frequent.

Though many youngsters learn about competition first-hand in this race, some of the riders are professionals in their 20s, 30s, and (even) 40s.

It is exciting and best appreciated when seen first-hand.

This is good, clean family entertainment. Why not plan to stop by and take a look Saturday? There is no admission charge.

We think that it is super that this prestige double-header is coming to the Glades. It deserves all the support local residents can provide.

Letters Policy

We solicit and encourage letters to the editor.

Our guidelines are simple:

Good things

There are lots of good things going on in our community these days.

There are two performances left of "Jesus is Lord" at Clewiston's John B. Roy Auditorium. The choir, composed of singers from Moore Haven, Belle Glade, and Clewiston is magnificent. The actors are a special lot too.

I cannot help but believe that words fail to convey just how special this event is. See for yourself, Thursday or Friday at 8 p.m. Admission is free.

Congratulations Elizabeth Bass, Lee Davis, Dennis Goodwin, and many others too numerous to mention here.

*** You may not have heard much from Clewiston Informed Parents lately, but I have a feeling that CLIP will be around a long time.

You will remember CLIP brought David Toma to Clewiston to reveal just how bad the drug and alcohol problem is among our young people.

Keep those initials in mind. They will be doing some great things in coming months.

Sometimes we take community-spirited companies like United States Sugar Corp. almost for granted. They have done many good things for communities around the take over the years.

Most recently was the $47,000 donation to Clewiston High School to refurbish the biology laboratory.

We are fortunate to have this benevolent giant in our midst, which plows so much back into the community.

The Fort Lauderdale News/Sun-Sentinel on March 20 had a rather lengthy article on Clewiston in its Lifestyle Section.

The tone of the article was generally favorable to our area and I even had the opportunity to be quoted therein.

Staff writer Vernon Mays correctly quoted me when as saying you cannot stereotype the people of this area.

As far as I am concerned there is no such thing as a typical Glades resident. Everyone is an individual with unique talents.

There is a lot of talent among us and in every community. We have it all here: brains, ingenuity, self reliance, and even a fair amount of athletic ability. And to balance out the picture you may know of old growth or two as well. Sounds like a pretty special place to me.

Getting back to that interview, I think it is good every now and then to sit on the other side of the stubby pencil.

The worst Vernon zinged me was accusing me of being a St. Pete native. I grew up in St. Augustine, Oh, well, none of us are perfect, yours truly included.

Plant sale thanks

Editor:

The members of the Glades County Garden Club would like to thank all those who attended our recent Spring Festival of Plant sales. We appreciate the continued support and enthusiasm for the garden club's fund raising events.

We would like to thank also the Flagship

Bank manager, Brenda Scruggs, for her permission to use the bank parking lot where we had excellent exposure for sales.

The monies raised we intend returning to the county for beautification projects that we hope you all will approve of and enjoy.

Brown Sugar Fest set

The Fifth Annual Brown Sugar Festival will salute the 60th anniversary of Clewiston-Harlem during a week-long celebration the first week of May.

"Happy Birthday Clewiston-Harlem 60 years of Brown Sugar Sweetness" is the theme of this year's festival.

A parade of twins, steel band music, and cricket exhibitions are some of the activities planned.

Gwen Patrick, founder of the Harlem Academy Alumni Association, and Elizabeth Bobo, current president, said this year's festival has been declared a homecoming event.

May 7 has been selected as the final day of the festival and will include a parade.

The next meeting of the Alumni Association planning the festival is set for Thursday, March 31, at 7:30 p.m. at Harlem Academy.

Persons or groups interested in taking part in the festival are encouraged to contact one of the chairman:

Miss Brown Sugar Beauty Pageant - Elizabeth Bobo, Parade - Alma George, Souvenir program - M. I. Black, Festival day program - Florine Jeffery and Louise Wilson, Festival ground booths - Melvin Jones and Florine Jeffery, Brown Sugar Festival T-shirts - Louise Wilson, and Advertising - Gwen Patrick and Loretta Mulkey.

Pahokee youth killed in shooting

PAHOKEE -- A 16-year-old seeking 25 cents to play a video game at a convenience store was shot dead Saturday afternoon, according to a report by detectives at the Glades sub-station of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office.

According to Detectives

Jesse Simonds and William Bass, Candido Sierra, 21, of 284 1/2 Corissa Drive was arrested and placed in jail under $6,000 bond on charges of manslaughter and aggravated battery. He allegedly shot Rubin Arnold, 16, of 131 Shirley Drive in Pahokee, in the throat with a .22 calibre pistol after Arnold asked Sierra for a quarter to play a video game at about 6 p.m.

When Arnold asked for the quarter, Sierra and he apparently started to argue. Sierra pulled a pistol out of his hip pocket, cocked the hammer and pointed it at Arnold. Arnold grabbed for the gun and it accidentally went off.

Arnold was transported to Everglades Memorial Hospital by the Pahokee Ambulance Service. He was flown to Good Samaritan Hospital in West Palm Beach where he died Sunday morning, March 27, at about 2:45.

Sierra was originally charged with aggravated battery. Manslaughter was added to the charges when Arnold died.

Man charged with robbery

SOUTH BAY -- A South Bay man is facing charges in connection with the armed robbery of a bank three weeks ago.

According to Detective Cliff Simonds of the Glades sub-station of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office, Derry L. West, 25, of 2401 Ilex in South Bay, is facing charges of armed robbery, aggravated assault, possession of a firearm by a convicted felon and possession of a firearm in commission of a felony.

West is accused of having entered the South Bay branch of the Bank of Belle Glade March 11 and robbing it.

He allegedly asked for $2 in quarters and, when told the bank only gave quarters in $10 denominations, grabbed a handful of twenty dollar bills from a stack in the teller's case.

He then pulled a handgun from his pocket and, pointing it at the teller, pulled the trigger. The gun didn't fire and West allegedly turned around and ran out of the bank.

Five shells were found on the floor of the bank after the robbery, according to one detective.

West was placed in jail under $10,000 bond.

Crash kills girl

PAHOKEE -- A single vehicle accident on US 98 Tuesday, March 29 claimed the life of a 16-year-old Lake Worth girl.

According to the Florida Highway Patrol, Kathy Sands of Lake Worth died when the vehicle she was in rolled over. A second occupant, Christine Livio, 15, of Greenacres, is in serious condition in Good Samaritan Hospital in West Palm Beach.

According to the highway patrol reports, the 1980 Dat-sun was northbound at about 2:30 p.m. when the driver lost control of the vehicle about nine and a half miles east of Canal Point. The vehicle swerved over the center line.

The driver over-compensated and crossed the center line again.

The vehicle left the road and rolled over, ejecting both occupants.

Police have not yet determined which of the occupants was driving.

Possession charged

BELLE GLADE -- A resident of Glades Correctional Institution's 20 Mile Bend Ranch was arrested early last week when he allegedly tried to smuggle a large quantity of marijuana into the prison facility.

According to the report prepared by Michael York of the Glades substation of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office, David Riley, 30, of 20 Mile Bend Ranch, is facing charges of introduction of contraband (marijuana) into a state institution and possession of marijuana over 120 grams with intent to deliver, after apparently trying to deliver a package containing the marijuana to the GCI facility north of Belle Glade March 21.

More arrests are expected. The arrest was part of a month long investigation conducted by the Sheriff's Office and the Sheriff's K-9 unit, the Criminal Investigation Office at GCI and the United States Mail Postal Inspectors Office.

Look up!

Those are the two words you should always keep in mind when you install or remove any antenna.

Look up to see if there are any power lines in your way. Make sure there's no danger of touching them, or even coming close.

Because if your CB or TV antenna makes contact with a power line, and you touch any part of that antenna or even a supporting guy wire, you could get a serious shock.

Make sure you have clearance distance all around that's no less than the height of the mast. And twice as far would be twice as safe.

We want you to enjoy clearer reception, but please play it safe and look up.

And that also goes for tree trimming, picking fruit, kite flying, or any other activity that puts you in possible contact with overhead lines.

Encouraging safety is just one way we're working hard at being the kind of power company you want.

Commission turns down liquor zoning change request

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE — The old Social Security building on SW 16th Street won't be converted into a bar and package store.

A group of Belle Glade citizens and businessmen from the area successfully urged the Belle Glade City Commission Monday night, March 28, to defeat an ordinance that would have rezoned the building to permit its use as a bar and package store.

George W. Farnall, Jr. had approached the city commission two weeks ago through Attorney Thomas Montgomery, and asked for the rezoning.

Farnall had won a liquor license through the county lottery and wanted to rent the building from its owner, James B. Tollerott.

The commission at that time instructed its attorney, John E. Baker, to draw up an ordinance rezoning the structure to Area A Alcoholic Beverage Designation.

After several citizens expressed their opposition to the rezoning Monday night, the ordinance was defeated unanimously by the commission.

Seab Edwards, pastor of the Church of God in Christ, said the package store and bar would bring undesired elements to the area.

"Church activities and alcoholic activities won't blend," he said.

His church is constructing a facility on property abutting the site of the proposed lounge, and Edwards wanted to know why the city couldn't turn the request down because the two buildings, the church and the bar, were too close together.

Mayor Thomas L. Altman said the city ordinance clearly defines the way in which the distance is measured. It is to be measured from the front door of the church to the front door of the establishment by the usual means of pedestrian traffic.

When the city had that distance measured, it found the distance to be slightly over 620 feet from the church to the lounge.

"There's a lot of technicalities that may or may not make sense," said Altman.

Edwards also wanted to know why affected property owners in the vicinity and the city's zoning board wasn't notified of the possible rezoning, and Altman informed him it was because the city ordinance didn't provide for the notification in alcoholic matters.

Later that evening, the commission asked Baker to review the applicable ordinances in an effort to make that notification mandatory in the future.

Several residents in the area expressed concern with the crime the establishment could attract to the relatively quiet neighborhood.

Margaret Peavy asked the city commission to turn down the request for rezoning so the area wouldn't deteriorate into a slum section with poor housing and high crime.

Roy Burch, with Royals, Inc., which has a warehouse and office facility across the street from the old Social Security building, also urged the commission to turn the request down.

"We have a considerable problem with crime as it is, in attracting those who would want to take what is not their's (at the Royal's facility)," said

Burch. "We can see no benefit at all in putting this establishment across the street."

Fritz Stein, who lives in the area, said he represented about 12 other residents opposed to the rezoning.

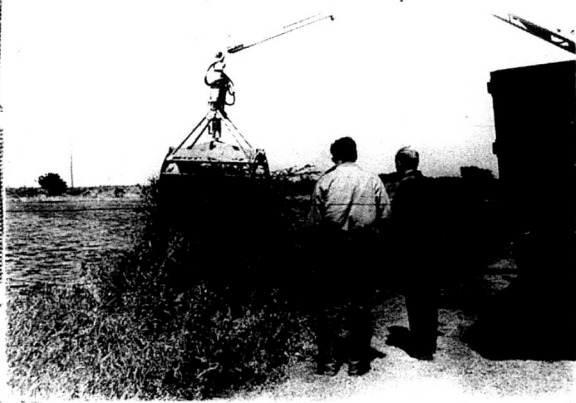

"We do have a pretty calm area out there and would like to maintain it in the way we have in the past," he said.

The commissioners voted 5-0 not to rezone the area.

"I'd just like to say it's encouraging to see people stand up," said Commissioner George Goforth.

Altman agreed, saying most commission meetings are attended by just the commissioners, city employees and the press.

"Every once in a while we throw something like this out just to visit with you folks," he said jokingly.

THE LAKE where the Black Gold Water Ski Show and other activities are scheduled has to be cleared of some grossy areas which harbor snakes. Above, Assistant City Recreation Director Mike Underwood and Larry Thompson of the sanitation department watch as one of the city trash trucks is used to clear some of the growth.

Lutz honored by school district

Glades Central High School English and French teacher Sonja Lutz has been selected as Palm Beach County's Teacher of the Year, to represent, according to superintendent Thomas Mills, II the outstanding teachers in the district.

Lutz is also a member of a cadre of teachers who are assembling writing skills projects for utilization in Florida high schools under the sponsorship of the P.K. Yonge Laboratory School at the University of Florida.

"Trashology" involves English students in writing famous people, asking them for items which have been discarded as "trash," and which are related to their careers. Students have received responses from such notables as Liberace, Lee Elder, Ted Knight, Red Skelton, Carol Burnett, Alex Haley, and Calvin Klein.

Lutz is also a member of a cadre of teachers who are assembling writing skills projects for utilization in Florida high schools under the sponsorship of the P.K. Yonge Laboratory School at the University of Florida.

Cast members preparing to present thriller

BELLE GLADE - The members of the Glades College and Community Theatre group have been practicing for six weeks in preparation for the group's next play, "The Mousetrap."

The play will be performed at Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center at Palm Beach Junior College's Glades Campus, April 12, 14 and 15, as part of the annual Black Gold Jubilee.

The April 12 performance, scheduled for high school students, has already been sold out, according to director Barry Russal.

The tickets for the other dates are on sale for $3 each.

This will be the third play for the group, which Russal founded three years ago. Since then it has presented "Prisoner of Second Avenue" and

"Tribute."

A cast of 14 actors and stage crew members will present the play.

Russal is directing his third play for the group. Byron Branyon is one of five veterans in the cast. He appeared in both of the group's other plays and will be portraying Detective Sergeant Trotter in "The Mousetrap."

Jane Shepherd, who will play Miss Casewell, had appeared in "Tribute."

Alicia Lancaster, cast as Molly Ralston, had also performed in "Tribute."

Jim Montgomery, who will play Mr. Paravincini, was in "Prisoner of Second Avenue" and "Tribute."

The lighting technician, Adele Kimbro, also performed in "Tribute."

There are several rookies on the cast and stage crew this year.

Tammy Reeves is working as a sound technician, Freddie Sotolongo will be portraying Christopher Wren, Lynn Oliver will play Giles Ralston, Marti Davidson will play Mrs. Boyle, Danny Person will be a lighting technician, Annaliese Stahlemitz is stage manager, Oscar Shackelford will portray Major Metcalfe and Edie Milita is in charge of the program.

In the past, the group's plays have been presented independently because timing wasn't appropriate for a play in conjunction with the annual Black Gold Jubilee. Russal said he has to divide his time between teaching duties and the play when the group is presenting a play.

"We're very much a part of Black Gold and happy about that," said Russal. "We would like to work with Black Gold in the future."

Russal said the group is funded entirely by the proceeds of its ticket sales.

It uses the funds to build the stage sets and cover the expenses of the play. So far, it has been successful, said Russal, although he wouldn't mind seeing more people attend the plays.

We'd love to have every seat in the house filled for all three performances," said Russal.

He said the group keeps prices low, $3 a seat, to attract more people in the audiences. So far the strategy has been successful, he said. The group is composed entirely of local Glades residents, and Russal said he is hoping to see 70 attract more participants.

School children in peril while playing Pac-Man?

BELLE GLADE - School age children may be lining up at a bar in the southwest section of Belle Glade to play Pac-Man, and at least one trustee officer is concerned for their safety.

Dan Bythewood, an employee of the Palm Beach County Board, said he takes the children out of the bar and to school when he finds them playing hookey there, but told the city commission Monday night, March 28, that he was worried that a child could be injured if a fight breaks out in the adjoining lounge area.

The area housing the video games is separated by a wooden wall from the bar, and a bullet could easily pierce the wall, Bythewood said. The area was a part of the bar room itself at one time, he added.

The city commission asked the staff to research what could be done to keep the children out of the bar.

City Attorney John E. Baker said state statute addresses the question of minors in bars and that there is no way to keep children out of the bars according to it. He said the city would have to examine ways to do that on its own.

"And you also know," Mayor Thomas L. Altman told Bythewood, "the city commission can't substitute in place of the parent."

Commissioner William Gear asked why the parents whose children are playing hookey at the establishment weren't fined.

"I wouldn't wanna fine the parent when the parent's working and doesn't know the child is in there and the child is supposed to be in school," said Bythewood.

THE CAST OF Agatha Christie's "The Mousetrap" has been rehearsing and preparing for the play for six weeks. Two cast members rehearse a scene above. The play will be presented three times in conjunction with the Black Gold Jubilee the week of April 10-17.

in various states, and views of snow covered Mt. Washington in Maine, where the winds have reached a velocity of 231 miles per hour - a world record.

Dooley also showed slides he had taken at the Longwood Gardens, near Philadelphia, Pa., showing the flowers and shrubs in spring and autumn.

Marshall questions lack of Black employee and commission raises

SOUTH BAY — Several South Bay City Commissioners apparently want to see more Blacks working at city hall and higher pay for the city commissioners.

Wednesday night, March 23, Commissioner Willie Marshall asked why there weren't any Black employees at city hall.

"I'm Mr. Lomax (City Manager Max Harrelle) said there was no openings," said Marshall. "I can't fill a position that I don't have," said Harrelle.

Marshall and City Commissioner Rennie Morris also asked why Harrelle hadn't given the commissioners a raise since they've been on the commission.

Harrelle explained to them that he can't give the commissioners a raise. They have to approve the higher wages themselves.

Mayor Donald Tiller said he not only was opposed to increasing the pay for commissioners, but he was opposed to any pay for commissioners in a city the size of South Bay.

He said he thought the commissioners in Clewiston don't get paid at all.

Marshall said he thought the city commissioners should be paid for their time and Morris said he thought the commissioners deserved an increase.

According to City Clerk Virginia Walker, the commissioners each receive $2,700 annually, except the mayor, who receives $3,300 per year.

The city commission will consider raising its yearly salary at the next meeting April 5.

Cast members preparing to present thriller

BELLE GLADE - The members of the Glades College and Community Theatre group have been practicing for six weeks in preparation for the groups next play, "The Mousetrap."

The play will be performed at Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center at Palm Beach Junior College's Glades Campus April 12, 14 and 15, as part of the annual Black Gold Jubilee.

The April 12 performance, scheduled for high school students, has already been sold out, according to director Barry Russal.

The tickets for the other dates are on sale for $3 each.

This will be the third play for the group, which Russal founded three years ago. Since then it has presented "Prisoner of Second Avenue" and

"Tribute."

A cast of 14 actors and stage crew members will present the play.

Russal is directing his third play for the group.

Byron Branton is one of five veterans in the cast. He appeared in both of the group's other plays and will be portraying Detective Sergeant Trotter in "The Mousetrap."

Jane Shephard, who will play Miss Casewell, had appeared in "Tribute."

Alicia Lancaster, cast as Molly Ralston, had also performed in "Tribute."

Jim Montgomery, who'll play Mr. Paravincini, was in "Prisoner of Second Avenue" and "Tribute."

The lighting technician, Adele Kimbro, also performed in "Tribute."

There are several rookies on the cast and stage crew this year.

Tammy Reeves is working as a sound technician. Freddie Sotolongo will be portraying Christopher Wren. Lynn Oliver will play Giles Ralston. Marti Davidson will play Mrs. Boyle. Danny Pierson will be a lighting technician. Angelo Stahlsmith is stage manager. Oscar Shackleford will portray Major Metcalfe and Edie Milita is in charge of the program.

In the past, the group's plays have been presented independently because timing wasn't appropriate for a play in conjunction with the annual Black Gold Jubilee. Russal said he has to divide his time between teaching duties and the play when the group is presenting a play.

"We're very much a part of Black Gold and happy about that," said Russal. "We would like to work with Black Gold in the future."

Russal said the group is funded entirely by the proceeds of its ticket sales.

It uses the funds to build the stage sets and cover the expenses of the play. So far, it has been successful, said Russal, although he wouldn't mind seeing more people attend the plays.

We'd love to have every seat in the house filled for all three performances," said Russal.

He said the group keeps prices low, $3 a seat, in an effort to attract more people in the audiences.

So far the strategy has been successful, he said.

The group is composed entirely of local Glades residents, and Russal said he is hoping to see it attract more participants.

School children in peril while playing Pac-Man?

BELLE GLADE - School age children may be lining up at a bar in the southwest section of Belle Glade to play Pac-Man, and at least one truant officer is concerned for their safety.

Dan Bythewood, an employee of the Palm Beach County Board, said he takes the children out of the bar and to school when he finds them playing hockey there, but told the city commission Monday night, March 28, that he is worried that a child could be injured if a fight breaks out in the adjoining lounge area.

The area housing the video games is separated by a wooden wall from the bar, and a bullet could easily pierce the wall, Bythewood said. The area was a part of the bar room itself at one time, he added.

The city commission asked the staff to research what could be done to keep the children out of the bar.

City Attorney John E. Baker said state statute addresses the question of minors in bars and that there is no way to keep children out of the bars according to it. He said the city would have to examine ways to do that on its own.

"And you also know," Mayor Thomas L. Altman told Bythewood, "the city commission can't substitute in place of the parent."

Commissioner William Gear asked why the parents whose children are playing hockey at the establishment weren't fined.

"I wouldn't wanna fine the parent when the parent's working and doesn't know the child is in there and the child is housed in the school," said Bythewood.

THE CAST OF Agatha Christie's "The Mousetrap" has been rehearsing and preparing for the play for six weeks. Two cast members rehearse a scene above. The play will be presented three times in conjunction with the Black Gold Jubilee the week of April 10-17.

in various states, and views of snow covered Mt. Washington in Maine, where the winds have reached a velocity of 231 miles per hour - a world record.

His collection included the slide of an old synagogue where only men were permitted to enter the front door, the women entered through the back entrance.

Marshall questions lack of Black employee and commission raises

SOUTH BAY - Several South Bay City Commissioners apparently want to keep more Blacks working at city hall and higher pay for the city commissioners.

Wednesday night, March 23, Commissioner Willie Marshall asked why there weren't any Black employees at city hall.

"I hear Mr. Lomas (City Manager Max Harrelle) say there was no openings," said Marshall. "I can't fill a position that I don't have," said Harrelle.

Marshall and City Commissioner Rennick Morris also asked why Harrelle hadn't given the commissioners a raise since they've been on the commission.

He said he thought the commissioners in Clearwater don't get paid at all.

Marshall said he thought the city commissioners should be paid for their time and Morris said he thought the commissioners deserved an increase.

According to City Clerk Virginia Walker, the commissioners each receive $2,700 annually, except the mayor, who receives $3,300 per year.

The city commission will consider raising its yearly salary at the next meeting April 6.

Be cautious in buying cattle

Florida cattlemen are being urged to exercise caution when buying cattle in light of a stepped-up surveillance program of market cattle.

In issuing the warning, Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner said, "All cattlemen buying breeding or feeding cattle for additions to their herds should know fully the brucellosis background of such cattle. It's a time to be cautious." State officials have found brucellosis exposed cattle moving illegally in the state's channels of commerce, according to State Veterinarian Dr. C.L. Campbell, director of the Division of Animal Industry.

The stepped-up surveillance, Dr. Campbell said, is consistent with a request by the FCA board of directors to operate the program according to the state law.
